

Memory Frame Pendant Necklace

Tutorial

Memory frames are so easy to use and work great as pendants. The package encourages you to make a bracelet out of them, but we like the idea of highlighting an image that we love. And since these are double-sided, you can highlight two images! The ribbon and leather mixed together on the necklace makes the colors of the stamps pop out and the bead dangle adds a tiny bit of sparkle.

Step One

- Trim postage stamps to size with scissors. Place between both pieces of glass and slide glass into Memory Frame. Depress tab on frame and burnish with bone folder or wooden spoon until smooth.

Step Two

- Feed the rhinestone ball onto the head pin. Using the round nose pliers, loop the head pin. Using the chain nose pliers, gently open the loop on the head pin and thread it through the ring on the bottom of the Memory Frame. Close securely.

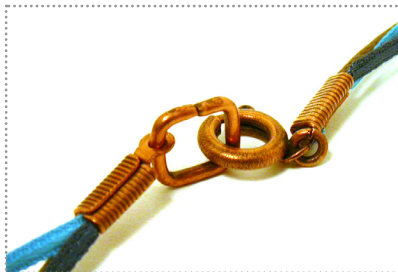

Step Three

- Line up the leather and both pieces of ribbon in one of the fold over crimps. Using your chain nose pliers crimp it firmly. Thread the remaining ends of the leather and ribbon into the other crimp and close it. Thread the closed ribbon crimp through the ring at the top of the Memory Frame.

Step Four

- Using your chain nose pliers open the square jump ring. Feed it through the hole on the end of one ribbon crimp. Close securely. With your chain nose pliers open the loop on the spring ring clasp and attach it to the other ribbon crimp. Close securely.
